

ARCHITECTURAL RESPONSE TO THE LANDSCAPE

A-Overall Image
Midwest Prairie Home:
Strong horizontal and vertical elements.

B-Siting
Garage entry is visible from the street.

C-Connection Elements
Long masonry walls define the path of travel around the structure while setting up horizontal vistas of the surrounding landscape.

D-Details/Materials
Generous overhanging eaves, the use of natural materials both inside and outside the house, as well as the distinctive rows of small windows serve to blur the line between inside and out, and connect the house with the earth.
